Reliability...THE WATCH-WORD AND MEANING BEHIND BUICK QUALITY!

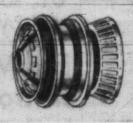

BUICK LE SARRE 4-DOOR HARDTOP

Buick reliability doesn't happen by chance, for exacting quality control and reliability tests are the order of the day as Buick engineers and craftsmen continue to discover ways of improving one of the world's most outstanding automobiles . . . highly skilled and painstaking researchers have developed the many new quality Buick features you enjoy this year!

WILDCAT V8 ENGINE

Dependable power, yes, but longer life, too. Streamlining within the engine reduces costly wear from friction. And Buick's excellent engine lubricating system helps provide the smoothest, most efficient performance you've ever experienced!

SUPER TURBINE DRIVE

Exhaustive tests proved that a slight turn in the angle of the transmission turbine blades would bring more power and savings—and reduced transmission weight allows more engine horsepower to drive the car. It's Buick research in action.

FIN-COOLED BRAKES

Cast aluminum front drums dissipate heat more quickly-keep linings from burning and glazing.
Another quality engineering feature—for longer brake life—savings and safety for you. Buick quality control assures you reliable braking for confident driving.

HIDE-AWAY DRIVE SHAFT

The best indication of quality construction is the attention given to passenger comfort. The new Hide-Away drive shaft al-most eliminates the hump. More legroom, more headroom-full, six-passenger comfort is a Buick quality achievement!

CONTROL ARM SUSPENSION

Quality refinements abound in Buick. Shock absorbers are mounted right inside the big coil springs for greater protection. All weather shock fluid and extensive use of rubber mean you can always rely on a minin of noise and vibration in Buick

President Kennedy

IN HIS INAUGURAL SPEECH I vesterday President Kennedy established both the tone and the first priority of his Government. The tone is dedication to a long, arduous task which he can launch but cannot hope to finish. The first priority, above every other consideration, is the establishment of through strength used wisely.

The youngest elected President In his nation's history undertakes his work with all of youth's energy but none of its illusions. He does not tell his people that the road ahead will be smooth, their life easy. He them that the road will be rough, life dangerous, the future always at the peril of man's folly. For such a time he makes no glittering promises; instead, he invokes the ancient energies of the Republic for a great purpose—nothing less than the salvation of mankind.

There was no belligerence, no narrow nationalism in this speech, but only a calm determination to maintain the nation's strength, "establish a beach head of co-operation in the jungles of suspicion" and then create "not a new balance of power but a new world of law where the strong are just, the weak secure and the peace preserved forever."

To this goal he invites the Communist empires without threat or bitterness but warns them plainly that in his country they can expect no weakness. "Let every nation know," he says, "whether it wish us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend or opfoe in order to assure the survival and success of liberty.

No inaugural speech attempts to spell out a new President's policy in detail but Mr. Kennedy plainly indicates that he is ready and eager to negotiate with the Russians on any problem and will be satisfied, as a start, to make small gains. In this young man there is an old man's patience.

"Let us never negotiate out of fear," he says, "but let us never fear to negotiate. Let both sides, for the first time, formulate serious and precise proposals for the inspection and control of arms, and bring absolute power to destroy other nations under the absolute control of all nations." A new attack on the problem of atomic control evidently is to be the first advance toward his first priority of

But it is clear from a speech notable for its humility that the President sees his own nation's task as part of humanity's common task and impossible to fulfil without the joint strength of all peace-loving quick to spot them.

To his own people he says: "Ask not what your country will do for you—ask what you can do for your country." And to his "fellow citizens of the world" he says: "Ask not what America will do for you but what together we can do for the freedom of man."

Plainly, he regards himself not only as the leader of his people but only as the lead as the leader, and the servant, of the free world. He does not shrink, he adds, from a daunting responsility: he welcomes it.

These words come out of a courage already proved in peace and war, refined in private suffering and now issuing in fearless leadership. There can be no doubt from this speech, and from his record, that Mr. Kennedy intends to lead in his own way, the way of a new generation which, in him, has come to power. We are watching here not another President but another era in the life of the United States to which the life of all free nations is indissolubly linked.

Some time must pass before Mr. Kennedy's leadership and generation can be judged, for its task; as he says, may not be completed in his lifetime. But, he says in his most revealing phrase, "Let us begin." Yesterday he made a good begin-Hutchison when the business resion will end. To be respectable, you Hutchison simply must have an opinion.

This is a new and queer doctrine. In rlier days a man could go through life and make quite a success of it without having an opinion on anything more complicated than the weather. Now every provincial premier, alderman and rural reeve is expected to pronounce on interest rates, Communism and nuclear weapons.

NOT many men who lack a medical education would undertake to advise a surgeon on a delicate operation. A man untrained in engineering seldom attempts to build a suspension bridge. Passengers in airplanes do not usually instruct the pilot in his business. But if about their joint affairs when they are conversation turns to any matter re-fully occupied in making a livelihood.

matter how complex it may be, opinions flow like a freshet on the Cowichan.

Nobody can say that our democrac lacks vigor when housewives can tell Mr. Fleming where he went wrong, the mid-morning group lounging around any coffee bar can demonstrate that Canadian workers don't work hard enough to swell the gross national product and an economist, military planner, financier, statesman or expert in African problems can be found on every street corner.

ALL the debate now raging from the House of Commons down to the humblest private house is healthy, invigorating and useful, though it comes rather late in the day after the nation's mistakes already have been made and we try to lock the stable door after the horse is a good mile down the road. But the debate is usually based on the wrong premise.

It is based on the premise that in a democracy the people must govern themselves and therefore must know all about their joint affairs, which, if other reason, is just physically these things, and the omniscient Mr. Khrushchev doesn't know half as much as he pretends. THE only exception to this rule of human limitation throughout the world is our Mr. Bennett, who makes us all proud by knowing everything and kindly letting us in on the secrets of public business now and then. But, alas, there is only one Mr. Bennett. For the most part we must get along with ordinary men who know very little and, if they are wise, admit to knowing less and less as they get older.

Occasionally, however, a tiny of light comes through the windy dark. As for instance a classic confession in our Parliament the other day from that attractive Maritime statesman, Mr. Now lan, minister of revenue, thus reported by the Canadian Press:

"HE said the Liberal (convention) promises amounted to the same old hackneyed story-reduced taxes and increased expenditures. This has been the solution used by every opposition party throughout the years, including our own, and it has never worked yet."

The blessings of the taxpayer on Nowlan and an inexpensive goldplated medal to mark a sudden outburst his government has erred as badly as the opposition, that both have been talking nonsense, deserves well of his country

This fascinating incident is cited to indicate the sort of thing on which any citizen, however ignorant, is fully entitled to an opinion; for here we have a matter of simple morals and common sense in which the judgment of the orany expert, perhaps better.

THE people of the grass roots (though always flattered by the politicians) are not equipped to judge the technical policies of the state but assuredly they can smell nonsense at a considerable distance, Conservative, Liberal or Socialist nonsense. The Liberals will soon of reverent nostalgia, and I see that next week we are to be treated to a further program — on radio this time — of reminiscence by people who knew Gershwin. I have no objection to sympathize with the unfortunate produc who have constantly to find material for entertaining "spec to feed into the insatiable taculars" maw of television; but I must enter a mild protest at some of the extreme claims that are now being put forward on Gershwin's behalf.

I do not, for instance, believe that Dig the Difference Gershwin can truthfully be said to have been in any sense a jazz composer. His popular tunes, to my ear at least, descend in the direct line from "If you were the only girl in the world" and "Keep the home fires burning:" he was an inventive furnisher of tunes to the musical comedy trade.

Mutually Beneficial

He was lucky enough to be writing his tunes at a time when jazz was producing an army of instrumentalists who could take the rhinestones from Tin Pan Alley and transmute them into dia-

The arrangement was mutually bene

Be Good" and "The Man I Love," and these tunes provided an excellent start ing-point for the melodic improvization at which men like Goodman and Benny Carter, Lester Young and Teddy Wilson excelled.

The Benny Goodman Trio recording "The Man I Love," for instance, points up my thesis admirably: for Goodman sticks very close to the melody as written (although he plays it with teeling for the proper tempo that is the hallmark of the real jazz musician) while Teddy Wilson effortlessly contri-butes two or three improvized melodies based on, but better than, the original.

As for Young, what can one say that would convey the ineffable beauty of his endlessly inventive tenor saxophone solos?

If you can carry the indescribable stridency of Ethel Merman's stainless steel tones in your head while you get out your treasured copy of Lester Young's "Lady Be Good" and put it on the furntable, you will "dig" at once the difference between musical comedy and lazz. They are both, in different degrees, popular, but only one is music, to my way of thinking.

In the musical world, as in every other field today, it is promotion" that matters: the artists who cannot promote themselves are outstripped by who can find an angle or a gimmick. It was not enough to be a great tenor player when Young was alive: one had to be able to play two clarinets at once. ficial. The musicians had to please the badly, in order to catch the tin-lined ear of the public. And so he died, belatedly recognized and insufficiently rewarded.

The Gershwin show did bring us Sinatra, the only male alive today who can sing a ballad with some idea of its relationship to jazz, but his appearances were tantalizingly short. And there was a very skilful parody of nineteen-twentyish vocalist singing "The Man I Love" as if straight from

Uneasy Reminder

We must all be grateful that "Rhapsody in Blue" was not chosen as the centrepiece of a ten-minute production number. This uneasy reminder of the existence in Gershwin's musical makeup of a wide streak of tastelessness is best left to those provincial European symphony orchestras who want to show their subscribers that they too can play "le jazz hot."

I suppose you will think I am being unnecessarily catty about Gershwin, who never did me any harm, and perhaps you are right. But I am inclined to get a little worked up when I look at the entertainment scene today and see the way that the mediocrities and the no-talents and the flash boys and girls have leathered their nests outstanding musicians are still largely ignored.

Fine musicians are still beating their way round the one-night-stand circuits while dubs who can hardly blow their noses or find an "A" are selling a million records.

Gershwin could write popular songs, but he was no better at it than Cole Porter, or Fats Waller, or Vincent Youmans or that modest Richard Rodgers program which started me off on this

His best show was "Porgy and Bess," which has some tunes in it that will last as long as this kind of show remains in existence: but to hear the music at its best you have to turn to a great jazz singer like Billie Holiday for or to a pianist like Teddy Wilson for "Bess, you is my woman," and their contribution is almost as great as any thing that Gershwin put into the tune

Gilt Coach

At the beginning of Thackeray's Henry Esmond," a historical novel which is not read as often undoubtedly deserves. Esmond says: "I have seen too much of success in my life to take off my hat and huzzah to it as it passes in its gilt coach; and would do my little part with my neighbors on foot, that they should not gape with too much wonder, nor applaud too loudly."

Them's my sentiments exactly. All I want is to secure for the unjustly neglected a little of the praise and adulation that is spilled when it is being poured into the already brimming cup of those who know how to "give the public what it wants."

The people in whose direction I am trying to divert a little of your atten-tion have committed only one folly: that of playing music to audiences that wanted only an earful of noise and an

A century ago it was still a rather daring and unconventional thing for a woman to write a novel. Ladies, the general opinion went, did not know-enough about life to invent a story of any strong interest, and if they did, they were no ladies.

As for the notion that a woman might write a comic novel —! It was absurb. For a lady to be witty was almost more unsuitable than to possess a knowledge

The most important correction I make in my bowling usually concerns the spot.

To get back in the groove after a few bad frames, I pick a new spot on the lane at which to aim my ball. If I've been hitting light, or to the right of the pocket, I move my spot to the left and if I've been on the left. I adjust to my right. It's paid off for me with big totals in the ABC and All-Star.

RONNIE DELIGHTED 'Happy'

"His real name is Pluto," He was trained by the same man who provided Cleo for "People's Choice." Frank Inn is the trainer, and he bought Pluto from the pound for only $2." The big pooch gets the full treatment at Desilu studios where the series is filmed. He has three stand-ins, and make-up artists spend more time with him than they do with Ronnie. It takes a half-hour for them to paint eyebrows on Pluto and to darken his ears. Another added element to the show is a new voice for the child—actually played by a pair of 2-year-old twin boys a pair of 2-year-old twin boys.—David and Steven Born. "The kids are beginning to talk for themselves now," burns said. "It ruins' the seen's when they do, and we have to start the take all over again."

P&O-Orient Lines' 28,000-ton Orcades sails for the Orient this April.

Now you can sail to Japan and the Orient for less than it costs to vacation at home.

P&O-ORIENT LINES now offer vacations to the fabulous Orient-Japan, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Singapore-for as little as $17 a day!

For example, a round trip to Manila costs less than you'd spend at a resort hotel by the day. You'll see the Orient on your way. And you have a choice of any one of frequent sailings timed for the best seasons.

A glance at the map below shows you your course. You board your graceful-P&O-Orient liner at Vancouver, San Francisco or Los Angeles.

A few short days later you're in Honolulu where you can pick orchids, ride a surfboard or learn the hula. Seven days later you step ashore in Japan at Yokohama. (Suggestion: take the trip overland from Tokyo to Kobe on the beautiful Inland Sea where you can pick up your ship again three days later.) Your next stop is Hong Kong with its treasure-troves for shop-

The last port of call on your trip can be

Manila, Singapore, Australia or even Europe, depending upon which ship you take.

Travel in the Grand Manner

The service on P&O-Orient liners is delightfully British. A steward is never more than a finger's wave away. Your meals are in the great Continental tradition. Your ship has two swimming pools, (one in tourist and one in first class) and thousands of feet of open deck for sun and games. There are movies, parties, dances, concerts and all the time in the world for catching up on your reading and meeting new friends from every part of the world.

And it's all yours whether you shoot the works and go glitteringly first class, or gayly informal in tourist.

Sailing Dates

Orsova sails from Vancouver March 15. Orcades sails April 10, Himalaya sails July 8, Orsova sails August 10, Orcades sails September 6, and Oronsay sails October 29.

There are return sailings through the Orient leaving Manila for Hong Kong, Japan, Hawaii and the West Coast in April, June, July, August and October. Round trip fares to Japan start at just $806 first class and $672 tourist class.

Fly there-sail back

If time is short you can have the best of both worlds by flying out to the Orient and sailing back on P&O-Orient with no worries about excess baggage charges for

PACKERS CHANGE MIND ON RESUMING WHALING

B.C. Packers announced today it would not resume whaling operations shut down in 1959.

It had previously been announced the company, with Japanese investors, had planned operations this out of Port Alice on Vancouver Island's west coast.

The change in plans came about because company and crewmen could not agree on wage rates.

Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, wife of the Premier of British Columbia, is proud of her family of two sons and a daughter and of her five grandsons. (Picture of the four she is holding is from a snap she took herself). Next Thursday's ceremony in the Parliament Buildings is familiar to her for she has sat at the left of the Speaker's dais at opening of every Legislature since her husband took office in 1952.

When Hon. Buda Brown, new member of the cabinet, takes her place in the first row of the government benches at the opening of the Legislature on Thursday, her husband, Mr. Don Brown, a former MLA, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Brown, will be watching proudly. Her grandchildren, David and Susan, pictured with her, will also be somewhere close at hand. Mrs. Brown is not new to the legislative scene, having been an MLA for four years. (Pacific Press Ltd. Mrs. Lois Haggen. CCF member, followed her husband into the Legislative Assembly, after his retirement because of ill-health. She is pictured with their grandchildren, from the left: Ann. seven years; Nancy, six; Bill Jr., four years, and Danny, eight. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Haggen's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. B. Skelcher of North Vancouver. (B. McLeod Photo.)

Mrs. George R. Pearkes, wife of the new Lieutenant-Gover nor of British Columbia, will be seated on the floor of the Legislature to the left of the Speaker's dais, on Thursday afternoon and will hear her husband give the Speach from the Throne for the first time. The same evening the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes will be hosts at their first State Ball in Government House Grandson Anthony, pictured above with Mrs. Pearkes, will be fast asleep upstairs. He is coming from Vancouver with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pearkes, who will be seated with Mrs. Pearkes at the opening and will also be present at the ball. (Photo by Bill Halkett.)

LEADING LADIES

At Opening of British Columbia Legislature
And In Home Life

First session of the 26th Legislature of British Columbia will convene next Thursday afternoon in the Parliament Buildings and at that time the wives of the Lieutenant-Governor and the Premier, and also the three feminine members of the Legislature will be much in the limelight. All five have families. Four of them are grandmothers. Their interests centre around home life. In the case of the three women in the Legislature, this increases their reasons for supporting measures designed to bring better conditions to all women and children in the province.

A new face in the Opposition ranks will be Mrs. Camille Mather, CCF member, at the right, who will be introduced on Thursday afternoon. Her family includes husband Barry, a newspaper columnist; 15-year-old Jane, seated on the floor in the above picture; Mary, 19, and in second year nursing at Royal Columbian Hospital from where her mother graduated in 1934; also assorted pet dogs and cats. The Mathers and their pets recently moved to a home in Ladner, the new MLA's constituency. (Photo by Chuck Jones, Vancouver.)

This cleaner requires no rubbing or polishing and comer in white, brown or black. All Junior needs to do is brusi off dust and dirt, apply cleaner with a dauber that comes with it and in a few seconds shoes will be gleaming. It's with it and, in a few seconds, shoes will be gleaming. It's especially good for young "footballers" who make a habit of ruffing their shoes on the way home from school!

Women who are on their feet a great deal will appreciate relief of special support nylon stockings that are now a "best seller" in one store I was in this week. Knitted to conform with every curve of the leg, stockings are of elastic sheer nylon, with no rubber as there is in conventional support type. Saies assistant told me that many of her fellow workers wear them and are delighted that they can get relief and yet still wear stockings that are attractive to the eye.

Unlike normal hose, these should be pulled on and never rolled. They should be stretched so that feet and legs fit them

Stockings come in either taupe mist, beige or beigette and are available in sizes 8 to 9½ or 10 to 11. Compared with other support stockings, the price tag of $4.95 means real

THE COST, IS SO LOW

DEATH OF QUEEN VICTORIA, after whom Victoria was named in 1852, occurred 60 years ago. Sunday at Osborne House, Isle of Wight. Thirteenfoot-high bronze statue, familiar to Victorians, erected to her memory in front of Legislative Buildings, had cornerstone laid by Prince of Wales in 1919 and was unveiled by the governor-general, the Duke of Devonshire, April 19, 1921. This city was first called Fort Albert, then Fort Victoria, then the "fort" part was dropped in 1852.

Sniked trees were among the timber logged in the area by Longland Bros, and sold to B.C. Forest Products Victoria sawmill, where for the second time they damaged saws and other equipment.

The municipality previously shared equally the cost of one bill for damage to mill equipment and this week agreed to do so again. Council approved payment of $76 to Longland Bros., half the amount charged the loggers by B.C. Forest Products.

The municipality's position was made a little easier when a cheque for $3,058 was rea cheque from Longland Bros. representing stumpage from timber the loggers were able to salvage in the area in excess of the contracted footage.

CHERISHED DREAM of all stamp collectors, the "find" of a valuable stamp, came true recently for Bob Lannan, 15, son of Sergeant and Mrs. Brian Lannan, Wallace Gardens, RCAF Station, Comox. His father purchased a used 1960 version of Scotts Stamp Catalogue in a second-hand store in Vancouver for $2.50. Tucked in its pages was a small glassine envelope containing an Australian stamp valued at $85. The stamp is a perfect mint copy of the one pound ultramarine and brown issued in 1913, showing a kangaroo superimposed on a map of Australia.

Millions Hail Queen

NEW DELHI (Reuters) The people of New Delhi gave Queen Elizabeth a roaring welcome as she stepped onto Indian soil for the first time today to start a 20,000-mile tour of the sub-continent.

Cheering, flag waving crowds lined the 12-mile ceremonial route into New Delhi from Palam Airport, where the royal party arrived in a turbo-prop airliner.

Preliminary estimates placed the crowds at more than the record 2,000,000 which greeted President Eisenhower during his 1959

A 21-gun salute boomed as the Queen — first reigning British monarch to visit India in 50 years—stepped on to the tarmac after her flight from London for a six week tour of India, Pakistan, Nepal and
